This nearly 180,000 sf addition supports 4imprint, the nation's largest promotional products distributor, as the company scales its warehouse operations to meet growing demand. The expansion pairs a pre-engineered metal building with a conventional steel structure, combining gable symmetrical, asymmetrical, and lean-to framing to optimize workflow across a main production area, two loading zones, a dispatch office, and three linking buildings.

Nucor's CFR roof in Galvalume Plus, fitted with tall clips for additional insulation, is paired with A-Panel walls in Warm White and a masonry wainscot for lasting durability and curb appeal. Numerous windows and overhead doors support a bright, functional production environment. Inside, the structure is fully lined with R-panels. Added collateral loading capacity paves the way for future solar panel installation. Together, these upgrades give 4imprint the capacity and flexibility to support long-term growth.
